ROOF UPDATE

Work will start on repairing the rotten end of the beam in the north aisle roof on Monday 4 November. It is likely to take about 2 weeks, but the contractors will only be working on it here for a total of 2 days. On Monday they will make detailed measurements for the bespoke bracket that is required, these will be sent to the steel fabricator for manufacture, then when it is made another day will be need for its installation. We are still waiting for planning permission for the re-covering of the north aisle, we expect this to be a formality but cannot start any work without it. The contractor has scheduled the work on site to begin just after Christmas. It will probably take about 3 to 4 weeks, but progress will be very dependent on the amount fine weather. The latest bouts of very heavy rainfall have highlighted some leaks in the newly re-covered south aisle, which the contractor will be rectifying. We are making good progress with the book which we are publishing featuring the stained-glass windows, it will shortly be sent to the printers. We hope to receive it just before Christmas, it will sell for £10 and will make a good present for anyone interested in church buildings, William Morris or art. The photography is stunning. It contains a general history of the building too, which is guaranteed to tell you some things about the church which you never knew!

Notice should be submitted to Heidi Fowler by e-mail to h.fowler@wg-plc.com, or to 18 Astrop Road. Items for inclusion should be received by 5pm Wednesday to ensure inclusion for the coming Sunday.
